

Software Engineer: Junior

Job Description

Provides specialized knowledge of systems and software requirement and programming specifications. Analyzes test plans, test designs, test procedures, test cases, and test results to ensure requirements have been addressed and assessed. Applies analytical expertise to assist in defining, analyzing, testing, and verifying complex system/software projects, test programs, states of technology and current software development projects.

Required Skills

Experience in one or more of these disciplines: computer science; computer engineering/electronics engineering; software analyses; software test planning and test design; test engineering; modeling and simulation; test and evaluation performance and reporting. Ensures software standards are met.

Required Experience

Experience in one or more of these disciplines: computer science; computer engineering/electronics engineering; software analyses; software test planning and test design; test engineering; modeling and simulation; test and evaluation performance and reporting. Ensures software standards are met.

Job Location

Fairmont, WV US

Position Type

Full-Time/Regular